PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Director, Nicholas Institute for Environmental Policy Solutions, Duke University, Durham, NC. Established multidisciplinary institution at Duke University focused on providing policy makers, corporate leaders, non-profits and the public with unbiased and thorough analysis of pressing and complex environmental issues. As founding Director of the Nicholas Institute, built the organization into a leading voice on environmental issues and created a model for effective University engagement in public policy debates. Earned a top ten ranking amongst climate change economics and policy think tanks. Recruited academic and professional experts capable of leading cross-disciplinary and cross-institutional efforts to uncover effective strategies and policies. Worked collaboratively with Board of Advisors to extend Institute's reach and effectiveness, led organization through University leadership transitions and ensured budgetary strength via fundraising, grants and careful management. Served as co-chair of Duke's sustainability committee and assisted in the design and implementation of the University's climate neutrality commitment. June 2005 – Present.

Counsel for the Environment, Office of Senator Joseph I. Lieberman, Washington, D.C. Advised Senator Lieberman on all environmental and energy issues before the U.S. Senate; developed Lieberman-McCain climate change legislation with Republican co-sponsor's staff, built coalition of stakeholder support and coordinated comprehensive political and media campaign seeking its passage; developed legislative and media strategy to further Senator Lieberman's positions on numerous other legislative issues, including opposition to drilling in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, opposition to comprehensive energy legislation, and efforts to enact comprehensive air pollution legislation for utilities; drafted legislation for introduction on topics such as air pollution mitigation, National Park Service management, deployment of advanced energy technologies, and conservation of Connecticut's natural resources; represented Senator Lieberman in legislative negotiations pertaining to environmental and energy issues, including the House-Senate conferences for comprehensive energy legislation in the 107th Congress and comprehensive transportation legislation in the 108th Congress; drafted speeches and press statements for Senator Lieberman on energy and environmental topics; coordinated and oversaw all activities of the Senate Subcommittee on Clean Air, Wetlands and Climate Change during Senator Lieberman's term as Subcommittee Chairman in the 107th Congress. August 2000 – May 2005.

Volunteer Coordinator for Energy and Environmental Policy, Joe Lieberman for President, Arlington, VA. On personal time, oversaw all energy and environmental policy matters in the Joe Lieberman for President campaign; convened experts to develop proposal for Senator Lieberman's energy plan for his presidential campaign;
